Intraoperative Molecular Imaging Precision Surgery 1st Annual Clinical Trials Update

Program Description:

Please remember to check your spam/junk mail for our communications.

Program Overview:

Penn’s Abramson Cancer Center and the Center for Precision Surgery in collaboration with the World Molecular Imaging Society present this activity to review and discuss recent progress and future challenges in clinical trials for intraoperative molecular imaging during cancer surgery. Lectures and interactive participation will encourage a dynamic exchange of ideas between faculty and attendees.

Learning Objectives:
At the conclusion of this symposium, attendees should be able to:

1. Describe the status of ongoing or completed clinical trials in the field of intraoperative molecular imaging for cancer surgery
2. Define indications and endpoints for intraoperative imaging trials in clinical cancer surgery
3. Explore opportunities for creation of surgeon billing codes (CPT) for intraoperative molecular imaging

Target Audience:

This activity is designed for surgeons and researchers interested in learning about intraoperative molecular imaging. This includes surgical oncologists, neuro-surgeons, thoracic surgeons, gynecologic oncology surgeons, gastrointestinal surgeons, otolaryngologists/head and neck cancer surgeons, and other healthcare professionals involved in intraoperative molecular imaging for cancer such as radiologists, physicists, engineers, research scientists, and technologists.
