Program Overview & Target Audience:
The purpose of this educational activity is to present case-based approaches to the diagnosis and management of patients with pulmonary hypertension.

This activity has been designed for physicians, advanced practice nurses, physician assistants, respiratory therapists, nurses, residents, fellows and researchers in pulmonology, cardiology and rheumatology who care for or study patients with pulmonary vascular disease.

Learning Objectives:
Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to:
- Explain the approach to the diagnosis of pulmonary hypertension in different clinical presentations
- Describe the differences in treatment strategies used by the care team, using a case-based approach
- Outline the ways to risk stratify patients with different forms of pulmonary hypertension
- Discuss the role of advanced treatments used by the interdisciplinary care team for a patient with a pulmonary embolism
- Review the risks associated with surgery and pregnancy in pulmonary hypertension
