SYMPOSIUM ON ETHICAL ISSUES IN BIOMEDICAL RESEARCH:
A RESEARCHER’S PERSPECTIVE

DAVID PORTER, MD
BEN ABELLA, MD, MPhil
HOLLY FERNANDEZ LYNCH, JD, MBE

DAVID ASCH, MD, MBA
SUSAN DOMCHEK, MD
SCOTT HALPERN, MD, PhD

KEYNOTE: John Wilbanks, Sage Bionetworks

Tuesday, November 27th
9am - 5pm; Reserve a Seat via Link Above

In this first-of-its-kind symposium, top researchers from across the Penn community will gather in one location to discuss some of the fundamental ethical questions that arise at the frontiers of research today. Top Penn researchers will discuss the implications or challenges that such design choices present, as well as how to navigate them in the most effective and conscientious way possible.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Physicians, fellows, and residents across the Philadelphia area who conduct or are interested in conducting biomedical research.

COURSE CHAIRS

TRACY ZIOLEK
Director of Penn IRB & HRPP

DAVE HEAGERTY
Associate Director of Penn IRB

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

• Identify the available models of informed consent, as well as its roles, and then interpret how this can best be sought in the context of the study (e.g. based on the study design or the technologies used or available)

• Describe potential conflicts that may arise from overlaps between research and clinical care for the physician, as well as ideas for how to navigate professionally and which offices to engage

• Identify the methods by which (and examples of content for which) the IRB can be contacted for assistance to help facilitate the physician’s research

ACCREDITATION

In support of improving patient care, Penn Medicine is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

DESIGNATION OF CREDIT

Physicians: Penn Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 6.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits(TM). Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
